

I found myself completing tasks I would have previously avoided...

My Apprenticeship Journey

Hear from one of our incredible learners from London Borough of Hackney who has experienced the journey firsthand.

“

Dylan has completed the LGV C + E apprenticeship with Learning Curve Group at the London Borough of Hackney. Dylan's main motivation for undertaking his apprenticeship was his desire to gain a practical and versatile qualification for his career advancement. He has found his apprenticeship journey to have been instrumental in realising his potential and boosting his confidence!

Achieving distinctions in his assessments, tests, and exams on the first attempt, Dylan's hard work and determination hugely paid off, with the help of the training and guidance that he received through his journey.

The apprenticeship has helped Dylan overcome challenges related to confidence and motivation, instilling a focus and driven mindset in him!

Key skills and behaviours acquired during the apprenticeship have included functional skills qualifications in English and maths, filling educational gaps and enabling Dylan to approach tasks with the necessary preparation and attitude for success!

The LGV C + E apprenticeship has not only opened doors for Dylan with new opportunities at work, but was also crucial in Dylan securing a promotion, positively impacting his career development.

Dylan was highly grateful for the support that his Vocational Skills Coach, Mathew, provided throughout his journey and for boosting his confidence to go out and pursue further growth and success! Now, Dylan is keen to progress into a management role within his organisation.
