Learners are at the centre of everything we do – it's because of that we'll need references from your previous employer(s) and an enhanced DBS check.

WHY WOULD I WANT TO WORK AS AN ASSOCIATE?

Aside from the amazing support you receive from your Tutor Delivery Manager, there are some great reasons to come onboard as an Associate Tutor with Learning Curve Group.

Flexibility

As an associate tutor you have the luxury of picking and choosing how often you would like to teach to accommodate to your other commitments. All Employability courses differ in terms of the length of the course and the number of days which are required from the tutor each week for delivery. You will receive all courses information prior to accepting work.

Support

From day 1 you will receive support from your Tutor Delivery Manager, starting with an in depth and thorough onboarding process and a chance to ask all your questions! You will have regular contact and update with your manager over Microsoft Teams, or face to face if you're passing the office.

ROTA

We have recently invested into a live scheduling tool called ROTA for all our tutors in Employability. As a tutor you will receive instructions on how to sign into the APP. Once you have completed your profile, you will receive notifications when a job has been assigned to you and be able to look at all your upcoming courses you have agreed with your Tutor Manager to deliver. Organisation at its finest!

Standardisation Meetings

You will use your own initiative to complete the services, however LCG can specify working standards which are monitored by observations and twice-yearly standardisation meetings. The standardisation meetings are also an excellent opportunity to learn and share best practice with other tutors across the nation.

We are diverse

You're unique – and we love that about you. As an equal opportunity employer, we positively encourage applications from suitably qualified and eligible candidates regardless of sex, race, disability, age, sexual orientation, transgender status, religion or belief, marital status, or pregnancy and maternity.

WHERE DO ASSOCIATES FIT IN

As an Associate tutor, you play an integral point in the national delivery of our Employability provision. Yes, that's right, national! We operate from the borders of Scotland down to London. The reason our Employability provision uses associates is because our courses and funding can fluctuate, so having associates allows us to accommodate the demand. Our tutors deliver across a wide range of sectors, including but not limited to Health & Social Care, Childcare, Counselling, Customer Service, Business Admin, Facilities, Arts & Crafts, Construction, Taxi, Security and Functional Skills.

HEAR FROM THE TEAM

Paul Langton, Associate Taxi Tutor

I was attracted to the job role primarily because of its flexibility - the fact that I am not tied down to a fixed contract that would prevent me from taking time off at the time I wanted.

Learning Curve Group have been supportive of me from the start and although I don't enjoy the fringe benefits that the full-time staff enjoy (fixed salary, generous paid holidays, health care scheme and mileage allowance for example) they have treated me the same. The support staff and technical staff are on hand whenever I need them and the Rota app tells me of my upcoming courses that have been booked for me and opportunities to take on board any further work, should I wish to take it.

Whether an associate or full-time, learners are provided for you in your sector and with an Individual Learning Plan and Group Profile passed to you prior to the course, you can establish their needs and help you plan for their learning experience. In the sector in which I teach, learners are given a Numeracy and Literacy Assessment prior to enrolment so the candidates in front of you have been previously assessed for their suitability.

Once on the course LCG instil with all teaching and non-teaching staff that learners are the number one priority and support, and guidance is available should this be needed for both tutors and learners alike.
